Mr. Neely needs no eulogy from us, for he is too well known in this community, however, we will say his selection is a splendid one, and unsolicited by him. He is a worthy successor to the lamented Cashier, P. I.

Just be-fore leaving Versailles Stone told Hugh Howard, a young man in his employ, that if he (Stone) was not at his office next day to take certain papers from his safe and deliver them to H. A. Stone was the trustee of several funds and an examination at the bank shows that every dollar held by him in a fiduciary capacity is on deposit and the accounts perfectly straight. There is no known reason for his leaving. Some of his friends believe his mind became unbalanced. He had worried lately over his business affairs and had acted strangely.

Mr. Schobreth, who is Stone's intimate friend, is positive he is temporarily deranged and that upon his recovery of his mental equilibrium he will return home. Stone is known throughout Kentucky as a leading Knight of Pythias and Red Man. He is past chancellor of Gray Lodge, K. of P., of Versailles, and district deputy of that order. At the grand lodge meeting of Red Men in Frankfort recently he was elected grand outer centily he was elected grand outer guard. A Mule Buries Itself.

One of a team of mules belonging to Sam Harding, while plowing on his farm, near town, suddenly disappeared, the earth giving away beneath him. The negro who was behind the plow and in charge of the team, became frightened and ran to the house. When he returned he found one mule standing where he had left him and the other one buried with only his head above the ground.

It required five hours for four men to dig the animal out. No reason can he given for the sudden giving away of the earth as the field has been in cultivation for years.

> Mrs. C. C. Leer read a paper recounting the experiences of her sister, Mrs. Alberta, now a resident of Fayette county. As General Morgan was passing her home on march from Mt. Sterling to Lexington, the horse of one of his soldiers reared up and falling backwards fell on its rider. The man in gray was so badly injured that he was left at the Alberta residence, where he was tenderly cared for. As a result of his injuries he died and was buried. When the war was over Mrs. Alberta ascertained his name and former home, and, having the body exhumed, accompanied it to Georgia, where it was in terred in the family burying ground, the soldier being a member of a promi-

The need of a home for old women, widows, mothers and sisters of Confederate soldiers was then discussed. Delightful. refreshments-were served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Bedford and Mrs. Steele Marsh, after which the Chapter adjourned.

STRANGE ADVICE!

¶In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size the fight against the tobacco growers bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. Twe did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. Wiggins is a horse of attractive conformation, 153 hands high, full of quality, and with fine feet and legs. In disposition and manners he is perfect. His colts are uniformly good colors and inherit his bold, frictionless way of going. They are generally pure gaited and trot with light shoes and few boots. Wiggins himself wore a 7-ounce shoe with no boots in front. He was foaled a trotter, and as a yearling trotted a mile over a three-quarter mile track in 2.33 1/4. He took his record when two years old and won five straight stake races and $4,600 that season. Douglas Thomas, his trainer, says he could have trotted a mile over a good track in 2.12. His colts not only trot fast young, but sell for high prices. He was himself a bold finisher and his colts are like him in this respect. For an out-cross for in-bred mares you can't do better than to breed to Wiggins, though he micke well with mares of cour breed. nicks well with mares of any breeding. No other stallion at the same age has ever accomplished more than Wiggins. No other stallion of any age ever had three two-year-olds to beat 2.18 trotting in one year. No other stallion ever had seven trotters in 22.0 list at ten years.

A VOICE FROM GEORGIA

For the Consideration of Independent Tobacco Growers.

The following poem written by Sid.

ney Lanier in 1870 shows that some of the questions that engage farmers now were old even in that day; and there are still Joneses who have their "private argyment." When so many are railing against trusts as the cause of all their ills and against John D Rockefeller as the incarration of the trust spirit, it is interesting to know. co-operation with the Southern Education Board, has for years been trying through farmers' institutes and other agencies to induce the Southern far. better agricultural methods. The funds for this educational campaign for the benefit of Southern farmers have largely been supplied by Mr. Rockefeller. If farmers would use the practical common sense that Mr. Rockefeller is willing to pay for hav. ing commended to them, they would be less easy picking for trusts and cor. porations. They would at least make the game more interesting for the corporations. "Jones's" short-sighted grasping has kept the cotton planter in the clutches of the cotton manufacturer, as the independent tobacco planter threatens to keep the tobacco growers in the clutches of the Tobac. co Trust.

Jones's Private Argyment.

That air same Jones, which lived in

He had this p'int about him: He'd swear with a hundred sighs and That farmers must stop gittin' loans,

And git along without 'em. That bankers, warehousemen and sich Was fatt'nin on the planter. And Tennessy was rotten-rich

A-raisin' meat and corn, all which Draw'd money to Atlanta.

To quit a-raisin' cotton.

And the only thing (says Jones) to do Is, eat no meat that's boughten, But tear up every I O U, And plant all corn and swear for true

Thus spouted Jones (whar folks could hear, At court and other gatherin's), And thus kep' spoutin' many a year,

Sich fiddlesticks and blatherin's. But, one all-fired sweatin' day, It happened I was hoein' My lower corn-field, which it lay 'Longside the road that runs my way,

Whar I can see what's goin'.

Proclaimin' loudly far and near

And after 12 o'clock had come I felt a kinder faggin', And laid myself un'neath a plum To let my dinner settle sum, When 'long comes Jones's waggin,

A-readin' of a paper. His mules was goin' powerful slow, Fur he had tied the lines onto The staple of the scraper. The mules they stopped about a rod Longside the road, upon the sod, But Jones (which he had tuck a tod) Not knowin' kep' a readin'. And presently says he, "Hit's true; That Clisby's head is level.

From me, and went to feedin'

To keep themselves from goin' tew Bankruptcy and the devil! 'More corn! More corn! Must plant less ground,

Thar's one thing farmers all must do,

And mustn't eat what's boughten. Next year they'll do it-reasonin's sound; (And cotton will fetch 'bout a dollar a pound).

"An honorable citizen of this town was suffering from a severe attack of dysentery. He told a friend if he could obtain a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remeds, he felt confident of being cured, he having used this remedy in the West He was told that I kept it in stock and lots no time in obtaining it, and was promptly cured," says M.
